Benefits of becoming a sponsor

- Providing pre-primary and primary education
- Enabling a child to enter the state system
- Providing a daily nutritional snack
- Providing education for mothers in basic health and hygiene

Bangladesh officially offers free education but the poverty of children living in the slums means this cannot easily be accessed.

They will continue to need help with:

- buying books and equipment
- buying uniforms
- affording transport

Parental education will help to:

- avoid child labour
- increase family literacy

We aim to give these children three years of preparatory education to enable them to enter the state system. Our approach is flexible to take into account their individual needs. On entering the state system a level of sponsorship may continue.

For £10 per month you can provide a child living in the slums with an education, books and equipment and a daily nutritional snack.

Typically sponsorship lasts for three years but you may continue or stop at any time.

At least 98% of sponsorship goes directly to the school.
